

2016 Doctoral Institute at OBTC

June 8-11, 2016 at Walsh University - North Canton, Ohio

The OBTC Doctoral Institute is a one-day, pre-conference workshop dedicated to providing promising new teacher-scholars with personal and professional development opportunities. The goals of the OBTC Doctoral Institute are to:

- Provide participants with professional development in the area of teaching excellence.
- Explore with participants how they can become productive scholars and teachers, while also enjoying a rewarding personal life.
- Help participants begin to build a lasting network of fellow teacher-scholars.

March 1st Deadline to Apply for a Scholarship

Full scholarships with additional travel assistance will be offered on a competitive basis. Scholarship recipients will receive:

- Registration for the one-day Doctoral Institute and the following four-day Teaching Conference
- $200 in travel assistance
- All meals, dormitory housing, and social activities for the DI as well as the Teaching Conference
- Membership in OBTS for one year, including subscriptions to the award-winning Journal of Management Education and Management Teaching Review
- Presentation opportunity - as part of the DI, participants will jointly prepare a conference presentation to be delivered by the group on Saturday of the Teaching Conference

For more information on the Doctoral Institute and the Doctoral Institute Scholarship, visit <http://obts.org/content/doctoral-institute> or contact Barb Ritter at obts@obts.org